Cramer Celebrates Last Game by Good Work—Goes to Cincinnati Reds

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 14th.—William Cramer, Frankfort's crack pitcher, who has been purchased by the Cincinnati Reds, celebrated the last game in which he will play in the Blue Grass League by shutting out Maysville today, 5 to 0. He struck out eleven men, and allowed but six hits.

FOR PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

The Boston Advertiser says: "Arizona now plans an advisory vote for federal judges. It would be polite for Arizona to wait a few moments longer before trying to reform the government. The state is still an infant."

To say, in reference to our national constitution, "The people rule; if they can make a constitution, they can change it or say what it means," in the sense in which the phrase is meant to be understood, is to say in other words, whatever the people have the power to do they have the right to do.

The highest price reached in seven leading eastern cities for print paper was in 1900 and 1901, when such paper sold at $57 a ton, the average price for these years, however, being less than $42. The average price in the same cities for print paper in 1911 was $44.31, less by nearly one dollar a ton than the average price for 1910.

It is encouraging to note that the recent Socialist convention at Indianapolis repudiated the methods advocated by the "Industrial Workers of the World." Congressman Berger, of Milwaukee, said, "There is no bridge between socialism and anarchism." A decided stand was taken against "violence as a weapon of the working class."

Recently a salesman for the Madison Milling Company, of this city, was sent to Winchester and Clark county for the purpose of selling flour. He spent an entire day in the city of Winchester without being able to dispose of a single bag of flour or meal. He found the merchants exceedingly courteous, but very positive in their refusals to purchase. Why? The same reason was given by every one of the merchants, and it was this: "Our patrons demand goods made in Winchester and will use nothing else. Therefore we will purchase only products manufactured in our city." This is the situation there. Now, what is it in Richmond and Madison county?—Richmond Climax.

The authorities of the city and county are all demanding vigorous action toward the suppression of reckless automobile driving. Various suggestions are offered. Jail sentences, the revocation of licenses for a second or third offense, local instead of State speed regulations, are among the remedies proposed. It is evident that something drastic will have to be done. The slaughter of innocents by incompetent, thoughtless, irresponsible men, whether owners or chauffeurs, must be stopped. The problem is one of great difficulty, and no regulation of speed will solve it, since conditions vary within every locality.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Wonderful Cures Reported in Germany.

The use of simple herbs as remedies instead of the more concentrated and usually more dangerous inorganic substances, has been revived very widely of late. In Germany a new school of physicians has arisen which throws out almost a whole of the pharmacopoeia and relies on an adaptation of the method of wild animals in curing themselves. . . . N. Y. World.

J. D. MATHESON, Esq.

It was Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute of Buffalo, N. Y., who first advocated the extended use of some of our native roots, such as: Golden seal and Oregon grape root, mandrake and queen's root, black cherrybark. These are the chief ingredients in Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which has been so well and favorably known for nearly half a century. A harmless cleanser and stomach tonic that nature has provided.

"Shortsighted persons who would take unholy delight in seeing their employers burdened with an income tax evidently overlook the fact that in the end that tax is bound to directly affect them also."—Philadelphia Inquirer.

The San Francisco Chronicle says the preference primary is likely to have fewer advocates after the present campaign is over. Georgia is the only state where a primary election has been held that has cast more than 60 per cent. of the registered vote.

The San Francisco Chronicle says: "All producers are consumers, but all consumers are not producers. If those who do produce would reach and adhere to the conclusion that the producer has a right to live and prosper, and would vote for policies calculated to bring about that result, there would be less nonsense talked about restraint of trade."

Political Pickings

Washington Post: Ohio locusts whose wings were marked W. W. last year are inscribed T. T. this season; but we don't know whether this means "Tis Taft or 'Taint Taft."

Louisville Courier-Journal: Roosevelt papers say the Colonel has saved his party. Of course the only party he's interested in is Theodore. But has he saved him?

Columbia State: The ancients thought of the earth as borne upon the shoulders of Atlas but Colonel Roosevelt, of course, was not alive then.

Milwaukee Sentinel: Congressman Redfield, of Brooklyn, announces that he is willing to accept the Vice Presidency. Shameless wretch!

Denver Republican: Mr. Rockefeller has several homes, but the witness stand is getting to have the most homelike atmosphere of all.

Chicago News: Some men are born great, and then there is Senator Dixon.

Philadelphia Record: It may cost six dollars, as Sharp Williams declares, to bathe a United States Senator; but let the bathing go on. Out of a clean Senate we have a right to expect clean legislation.

St. Louis Times: That noise like a soft pedal coming from Danville, Ill., is Uncle Joe Cannon proving that he knows when to keep still.

Washington Post: The resumption of the Colonel's attack on Root indicates that maybe the Senator was "approached," and wouldn't.

Columbia State: Senator Root says that Mr. Taft is "on the knees of the gods." The knees have our profound sympathy.

Life is a ball game, and every time we make a home-head play we blame the umpire.

OUR WEEKLY SPORT LETTER

BY C. H. ZUBER.

CINCINNATI, O., June 14th, 1912.

There are those who are already conceding the National League pennant to the New York team, although the season is not yet half over. Others, however, hold the belief that at least four other teams on the big circuit are to be reckoned with, despite the commanding lead secured by the Giants, and that the next few weeks will see considerable climbing on the part of the Chicago, Cincinnati, Pittsburgh and Philadelphia and this, to a great extent, at the expense of McGraw's men.

Baseball dope shows that, aside from the pitching department, the Reds are one of several teams that are superior to the Giants in other departments of the game. A comparison of the individuals on the teams in the recent series between the Reds and the Giants showed altogether to the advantage of O'Day's men, with the exception of the twisting Chicago, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh show equal superiority so that it must not be expected that the Giants will continue their present gait much longer. In the American League the race at present is much closer, with the world's champion Athletics some distance down the ladder. Here, too, as in the National, charges may be expected shortly, with considerable switching of positions before the season is over.

Manager O'Day of the Reds is trying to solve the great problem that has confronted him all season, namely, the matter of building up of his pitching department. Recruits have been sent him from various parts of the country, but up to the present time the only one of the newcomers who has shown any sort of form is Sam Fletcher, secured from the Reading team of the defunct United States League. A semi pro. by the name of Gillam was looked over and let out during the past few days, and O'Day now is expecting two collegians, Connor and Tompkins by name, both are highly recommended. Once the pitching department of the team is bolstered up and the Reds will make speedy track toward the top of the ladder again.

The present long tour of the Reds will come to a close next week, after which the team will spend the greater portion of the next six weeks on the home lot. It is expected that the extended series at home will give Manager O'Day the opportunity of organizing his squad in such a way that the next Eastern trip will be a more joyous occasion than the present tour has been. The good work of the team in all departments except the pitching has opened the eyes of the Eastern fans to the fact that the Reds of this year are no false alarm aggregation, and they are generally picked to finish among the first three by the Eastern experts. The work of McDonald, Pheland, Marans and Eamond has been particularly gratifying, indicating that these youngsters surely have come to stay.

If there was any doubt as to the popularity of racing in this section under the new conditions, it was dispelled last Saturday, when the Lottis Derby was run at the over-the-river track. The best class of people of Cincinnati, and of other parts of Ohio and Kentucky, were among those present, and the sport offered was of the highest class. The attendance at Lottis since the opening of the spring meeting on Decoration Day has been most gratifying and it is now certain that horse racing in Kentucky again is in an extremely healthy and popular condition.

The black steam roller, Jack Johnson, is surprising the natives of New Mexico, and the sporting public generally, by the work he is doing in preparation for his fight with Jim Flynn at Las Vegas on July 4th. It is becoming more apparent every day that Flynn's chances of acquiring the world's champion are growing beautifully less, and the bets that are being made are principally on the basis of the number of rounds that the Pueblo fireman will be able to withstand the onslaught of Johnson. Both men are working hard and systematically, and promise to be in perfect form when the going rings for the round of their battle.

The 180 regular representatives of the United States, together with the reserves, have been selected for the world's Olympic games, to be held in Stockholm, Sweden, in July. According to the records of these men, supplemented by the opinion of experts, Uncle Sam's athletes will be the strongest aggregation of track, field and general sport stars that have ever represented this country in the

The United States has won the greatest number of points of any nation in the five previous Olympic contests, and it is freely predicted that a sixth sweep will be added.

SILO EXPERT

Now In Mason County Demonstrating the Building of Concrete Silos

The Kentucky Department of Agriculture has sent an expert concrete man, Mr. William Clements, to Mason county, together with the necessary forms for the construction of concrete silos.

As forms and supervision are furnished by the state at a cost of $5, the concrete silo can be built at the same cost as a wooden silo of the same dimensions. Arrangements have been completed for the erection of a number but it is desired by the Department to put up some four or five more in the county.

Work will start next Monday on those already arranged for.

Information as to cost, material, etc., can be obtained from Stanley Reed, Maysville, who is in charge of the work.

Historic Blackguards

By Albert Payson Terhune

The Press Publishing Co. (The New York World)

Gen. Charles Lee—The Traitor Who Threatened America

GEN. WASHINGTON and his thundered up, through the broiling summer heat, to the stricken battlefield of Monmouth. News had reached the commander-in-chief that his trusted CHARLES LEE, leader, Gen. Chas. Lee, had disobeyed orders and that as a result, the American army was retreating.

Washington took in the situation at a glance. The patriots were falling back. The British were everywhere successful. His blue eyes ablaze with anger, the chief galloped across to Lee.

"In heaven's name, General," he shouted, "what means this ill-timed prudence?"

"I know of no one," sneered Lee, "who has more of that abominable virtue than your excellency."

At this retort the last barriers of Washington's patience gave way. He hurled at Lee a public reprimand that the latter never forgot nor forgave. It was a case of a just man's wrath at a blackguard's misdeeds.

Charles Lee was born in England in 1731. He joined the British army as a mere child. At the age of eleven he was a commissioned officer. He fought in America during the French and Indian war and rose fast in rank to a lieutenant-colonelcy. But he had a sarcastic tongue and an ungovernable temper. He criticised his superior officers and made fun of their weaknesses. This sort of thing does not help a man on in any walk of life. It led at last to Lee's practical dismissal from the army. He drifted to Poland and Russia, where, serving as a soldier of fortune, he received the rank of major-general. He also won doubtful fame as a ferocious duelist.

Leaving Russia, Lee made his way to America a short time before the Revolution. He hated England and he loved intrigue. So he plunged into the stirring politics of the day, siding with the patriots. The Revolutionary army was short of experienced officers and was delighted to accept the services of so noted a soldier as Lee. He was offered the rank of second major-general under General Washington. He bargained shrewdly with congress before accepting this honor, declaring that King George's government would surely confiscate his British estates, and demanding to be paid for them. Congress agreed to give him $30,000 out of the impoverished patriot treasury as recompense for this possible loss.

Now began Lee's American military career. From the first he seems to have had two aims. One, to seize Washington's position as commander-in-chief; the other, to sell the American cause, at the best possible terms, to the British. After more than once risking the army's welfare by disobeying Washington's orders, Lee was captured at Basking Ridge, N. J., by the British. Whether or not he consented to the capture in order to carry out his treason plot cannot be known. But during his captivity (most of which he spent in a suite of rooms in New York City Hall) he came to terms of understanding with the British general, Howe, and explained to him his ideas on how best to crush the Revolution. Thinking he would be of more use to them in the Revolutionary army than in prison, the British set him free in 1778 and he went back to his duties. (The complete draft of Lee's plan, by which the colonies might be overthrown, was found in 1857 among General Howe's private papers.)

Then came the battle of Monmouth. The English, under Clinton, in June, 1778, evacuated Philadelphia and retreated across New Jersey to the British headquarters at New York. Washington resolved to smash part of the British army at Monmouth, N. J., on its march. Lee begged him not to make the attempt, but Washington sent him with an advance guard of 6,000 men to overtake the enemy. Lee caught up with the British at Monmouth on June 28, 1778, and began the battle in so strange and incompetent a way that Lafayette, in alarm, sent a secret message begging Washington to hurry to the front. Washington arrived in time to meet Lee in full retreat. He rebuked the traitor, rallied the army and saved the day.

No one could understand Lee's odd behavior, for no one then knew he was false. In rage at the rebuke, he wrote two insulting letters to Washington, who promptly ordered him arrested. A court-martial suspended him from active service for a year. In rage, he retired to a mountain hut, where, for months, he lived like a hermit.

As his year of suspension drew to an end, Lee wrote an abusive letter to congress, and was at once dismissed from the army. He went to live on an estate he had bought in the Shenandoah Valley. In 1783 he visited Philadelphia, where he fell ill and died.

THE PRAISE THAT COMES FROM THANKFUL MAYSVILLE PEOPLE

One kidney remedy has known merit. Maysville people rely upon it. That remedy is Doan's Kidney Pills. Maysville testimony proves it reliable.

Frederick Dresel, 1233 East Second street, Maysville, Ky., says: "Since I used Doan's Kidney Pills in 1908, I have not had kidney trouble. All that I said at that time praising this remedy still holds good. I was troubled with inflammation of the bladder and annoyance from my kidneys. The passages of the kidney secretions were irregular and I had a severe pain across the small of my back which interfered with my duties. When a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills, I got a box at the Wood & Son's Drug Store. They gave me prompt relief and I know that they are an excellent remedy."

SOLDIERS' REUNION

Survivors of Sixteenth Infantry and Tenth Cavalry to Celebrate Fiftieth Anniversary

Maysville to Be the Scene of Last
Great Gathering of Vanishing Hosts

The muffled drums in a thousand Grand Army Camps are rapidly beating the last tattoo over the graves of the departing soldiers who marched to victory in those trying days of 61-65.

The "thin blue line" of the vanishing hosts, who in blood and battle welded this Union into a Nation, the greatest of all countries, is fast fading into the dark night of Eternity.

A few more brief decades will have marked the passing away of the last of the million of men who answered Lincoln's call to arms.

It is fitting then that this, the Fiftieth anniversary of the mustering in of the Tenth Cavalry, should be marked by a grand reunion and a celebration where the camp fires may be lighted, perhaps for the last time, and around which the grizzled and infirm veterans whose youth was tried in the vortex of the bloodiest war in the history, may gather in one last pitiful meeting of friendship, love and amity; thinking only of the great tragedy of war, and now in peace and calmness, realizing the meaning of the national patriotism and the glorious heritage of liberty and fraternity under the Stars and Stripes that wave over a hundred million American citizens.

With this end in view the few survivors of the two regiments will gather in annual reunion at Maysville next September.

Colonel Thomas A. Jones, President of the Association, writes from Indiana indorsing the move to hold a grand reunion, and through local aid of Joseph Heiser Post, Captain C. C. Dogman and others are to take the proper steps to arrange the details of the coming gathering.

Maysville will be glad to have the old Vets here and her citizens will welcome them with true Kentucky hospitality.

CARDUI WORKED LIKE A CHARM

After Operation Failed to Help,
Cardui Worked Like a Charm.

Jonesville, S. C.—"I suffered with womanly trouble," writes Mrs. J. S. Kendrick, in a letter from this place, "and at times, I could not bear to stand on my feet. The doctor said I would never be any better, and that I would have to have an operation, or I would have a cancer."

I went to the hospital, and they operated on me, but I got no better. They said medicines would do me no good, and I thought I would have to die.

At last I tried Cardui, and began to improve, so I continued using it. Now, I am well, and can do my own work. I don't feel any pains.

Cardui worked like a charm. There must be merit in this purely vegetable, tonic remedy, for women—Cardui—for it has been in successful use for more than 50 years, for the treatment of womanly weakness and disease.

Please try it, for your troubles.

WOMAN'S MOST SUCCESSFUL MEDICINE

Known All Over The World
—Known Only For The Good It Has Done.

We know of no other medicine which has been so successful in relieving the suffering of women, or received so many genuine testimonials, as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

In nearly every community you will find women who have been restored to health by this famous medicine. Almost every woman you meet knows of the great good it has been doing among suffering women for the past 30 years.

In the Pinkham Laboratory at Lynn, Mass., are files containing hundreds of thousands of letters from women seeking health, in which many openly state over their own signatures that they have regained their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, many of whom state that it has saved them from surgical operations.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is made from roots and herbs, and is perfectly harmless.

The reason why it is so successful is because it contains ingredients which act directly upon the female organism, restoring it to health and normal activity.

Women who are suffering from those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of these facts or doubt the ability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore their health.
